Indianapolis Metropolitan High School receives a rating of approaching standard for Core Question 2.1 because it met standard for three sub-indicators, approached standard for one sub-indicator, and did not meet standard for one sub-indicator. At the September 2013 Count Day, the Indiana Department of Education (IDOE) indicated that school had 312 students enrolled. This is 89% of the 350 students that the school promised the community it would serve in its charter contract. The school approached standard for its February Enrollment Variance. This sub-indicator is calculated by dividing the number of students enrolled in the school on the February 2014 Count Day conducted by the Indiana Department of Education divided by the number of students enrolled at the time of the September 2013 Count Day. IDOE indicated that the school had 281 students enrolled at the February Count Day. This represents 90% of the number of students enrolled at the time of the September Count Day.

With regard to its current ratio, the school met standard meaning that it had current assets (cash or other assets that can be accessed in the next 12 months) that exceeded its current liabilities (debt obligations due in the next 12 months) by 10% or more.

Additionally, the school ended the year with 117 days cash on hand and met standard for this ratio. Days cash on hand is an important measure of a charter school's fiscal health because it indicates how many more days after June 30, 2014, the school would have been able to operate at its current spending levels without receiving a tuition support payment from IDOE.

Lastly, the school met standard for debt default. This metric is determined by both the auditors' comments in the audited financial statements and contact with the school's creditors. In the case of Indianapolis Metropolitan High School, neither its auditors nor its creditors provided any indication that the school had defaulted on its debt obligations.

Based on the summary of these sub-indicator ratings, Indianapolis Metropolitan High School approached standard for Core Question 2.1.
